

Office of Marketing and Public Information
Bob Burchette, 336-334-4822, Ext. 2566
Coretta Montague 336-334-4822, Ext. 2487

Guilford Technical Community College
Jamestown, N. C. 27282

Contact: ROBurchette@gtcc.edu
(Released 10/28/09)

GTCC THEATRE WILL PRESENT
ANOTHER ACKERMANN COMEDY

JAMESTOWN – “Ice Glen,” described by director William Lewis as “a delightful comedy,” will be presented by Guilford Technical Community College drama students at 8 p.m. Nov. 18-21 and Dec. 2-5.

All shows will be in the Fine Arts Theatre in the Koury Hospitality Careers Center on the Jamestown campus. Tickets are $12 for the public; $10 for senior citizens; and $7 for students.

Lewis, who is in his 21st season as director of the drama program at GTCC, will direct a cast of drama majors. The cast includes Steven Honeycutt of Wilson, Rebeka Todd of Trinity, Abby Shoaf and Matt Styers, both of Winston-Salem, Matt Shermer of Greensboro and Katie Scott of High Point.

Lewis, who also is the artistic director of GTCC Theatre, noted that “there is a small amount of adult language” in the play.

“Ice Glen,” written by Joan Ackermann of Massachusetts, is set in her native state in 1919. The play is about an improvised family composed of a widow, a poetess, some servants and a happy young man. The family is visited by an editor of the Atlantic Monthly, who wants to publish poems by the poetess in this unique family.

Ackermann’s works are familiar to the GTCC drama program, which has produced several of her plays.

###