COMMUNICATION CLUB CREATES TWO SCHOLARSHIPS AT GTCC

JAMESTOWN – The Communication Club at Guilford Technical Community College has found a way to help fellow students. The club has raised enough money to fund two $250 scholarships, and applications are being accepted for the grants.

Deadline for applications, which are available from the Enrollment Services department in Medlin Campus Center, is Nov. 6.

Club members held bake sales and sold doughnuts to raise money for the scholarships, according to assistant professor Kristi Short, advisor for the club. Scholarship recipients will be decided by Nov. 13, Short said.

The club hopes to continue awarding scholarships each year, she said.

Meanwhile, the club is trying to increase membership. Short said that club members do not have to be in the communication class. The club meets at noon each Tuesday in room 325 in the Sears Applied Technologies Building.

To be eligible for the scholarship, a student must:

- Intend to be a fulltime student for the spring semester.
- Have completed at least 24 credit hours within a year.
- Have a cumulative grade point average at GTCC of at least 3.0.
- Have taken at least one communications class at GTCC.
- Compose an essay that addresses future academic goals and how communication skills learned at GTCC are used. There are additional requirements for the essay.
- Provide letters of recommendation from two faculty members.

Additional information is available from Kristi Short at keshort@gtcc.edu or by attending a Communication Club meeting.
