TRIAD RETIREMENT LIVING ASSOCIATION TO ENDOW SCHOLARSHIP FOR GTCC STUDENTS

JAMESTOWN – Triad Retirement Living Association, an organization of people who work in the elder care industry, has taken the first step to endow a scholarship for Guilford Technical Community College students.

The scholarship will be for students enrolled in a health care related or medical technical program to earn a certificate, degree or diploma.

The association recently presented $3,000 to the GTCC Foundation in a ceremony at the college. That contribution, presented by TRLA president Danny Thompson of Greensboro, was the first payment toward a full endowment of $15,000 which will be made in increments until no later than Dec. 31, 2014.

Thompson and GTCC Foundation executive director Jim Belk signed the agreement for the foundation to handle the scholarship. “No scholarships will be given until one year after the scholarship has been fully endowed,” Belk said.

Also participating in presentation ceremony were Cindy Kane, program coordinator for the GTCC Center for Business and Industry, and Mary Corbin, coordinator of the college’s nursing assistant program.
